Agreements Reached

Geneva Talks Hopes Rise

GENEVA (UPI) — The United States, Britain and Soviet Russia yesterday recessed the Geneva nuclear conference until April 13 to give both sides time for possible major policy revisions that could lead to a break in the deadlock on nuclear test ban treaty.

Before recessing, negotiators reached agreement on three more articles for a test ban survey. They brought to seven the number of articles approved by both sides since the talks began last Oct. 31.

Soviet sources termed Russian agreement to the three articles as a "major concession" to the West in order to speed up progress of the negotiations.

Western sources said the articles indicated a certain amount of progress but "failed to change any of the basic issues" separating East and West.
